WAR WITH APES SEEMS IMMINENT

TWO HUMANS CAPTURED: ONE SPEAKS

Two humans, one able to use a primitive form of thought communication called speaking, were captured late yesterday at the gates of the city. The speaking human claimed, in interrogation, that they had escaped from a party of hostile Apes who had been holding them captive.

The two humans descended from the surface through the northeast fissure, came straight through the Lexington subway tunnel, and entered through the air ducts. They were spotted first at the Radio City Music Hall sign. The speaking one, obviously in a state of mental disorientation, says that he has been here before but in a different time.

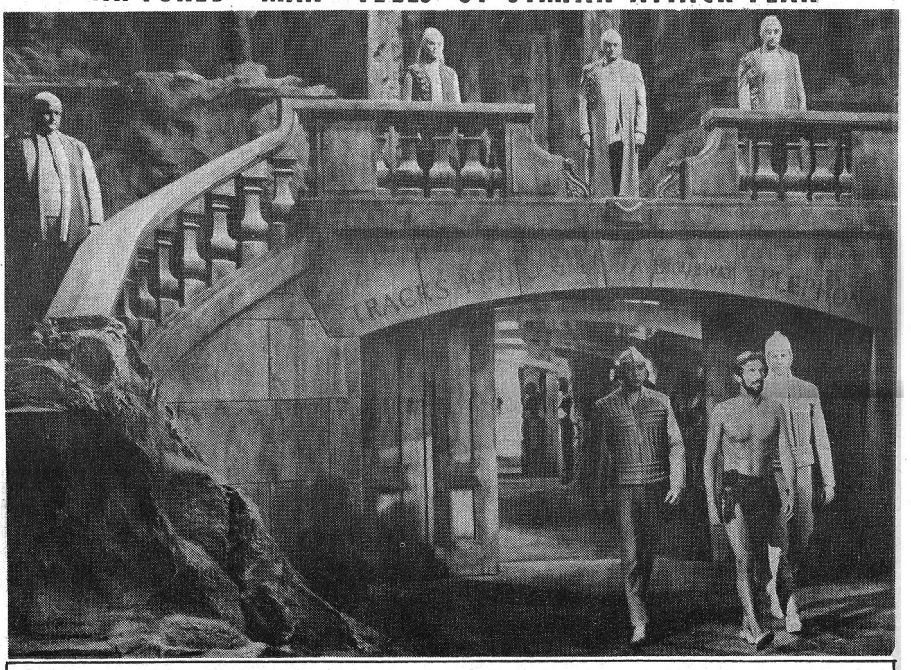
The stories the human tells of his first visit range from the ridiculous-that the inhabitants all looked like him—to the absolutely absurd conviction that at one time Radio City, Saint Patrick's Cathedral, and dozens of our other great buildings actually stood on the surface of a place he calls New York City. After his interrogation he was taken from the telepathy room to await medical study. He was put in the same cell as the human we captured last year. That human too, as was reported by this paper, had the ability to speak and suffered from an almost identical mental affliction. He has since, however, stopped raving about "how it was on the surface" and has been living a quiet and peaceful life in his cage.

Mendes the Devine and Invincible hopes that by putting the two talking humans together we may be able to learn more about our Ape enemies than was possible in the short time the humans were in the interrogation room.

The talking human, who calls himself "Brent", came into the city with a female he calls "Nova". The female cannot speak and is consequently useless. She will however be used for medical experimentation as soon as she can be quietly separated from the talking human. All attempts to separate them thus far have met with violent reactions from both humans.

The complete text of the interrogation of the human appears tomorrow.

CAPTURED "MAN" TELLS OF SIMIAN ATTACK PLAN



WHAT ARE THE APES LIKE? INTERROGATION TELLS.

The talking human (see story this edition) spent nearly four hours in the interrogation room yesterday. The information received will prove an invaluable aid in meeting and defeating any invading apes.

At first the human, "Brent" as he calls himself, was reluctant to talk. He found it difficult receiving thought projections and repeatedly complained of a feeling that his "mind was being read".

After a short attempt to communicate telepathically it was decided by all four interrogators that speaking would be used. Due to this primitive means of communication they were forced to proceed slowly.

Time after time the human balked at answering and was made to undergo mental pain. While he grasped the concept of forced hypnosis he remained unconvinced that we could actually force him to talk.

During the second hour of questioning the female was brought in. Since the human is susceptible to an antiquated code of ethics which makes it difficult for him to accept the responsibility for hurting others, especially the female of the species, it was decided to go into his mind and force him to hurt the female he calls "Nova" This caused him great distress and, eventually, broke him completely.

Once broken, the information about the apes flowed freely. The following is a capsule analysis of what was learned.

The Apes are strong but stupid. Their capacity for cruelty is almost boundless. Torture, murder, rape and the like are acceptable forms of behavior. Their hatred for the human animal which inhabits their land is extremely intense. They round up the humans for heinous experiments, target practice, games, circuses and sport. Their weaponry is crude but effective. Single action rifles are the main infantry weapon and their artillery uses cap and ball cannon exclusively. Their principle mode of transportation is the horse and all heavy armament is carried on pack animals or caissons. They are extremely superstitious, ignorant and will panic if confused. They can and will, however, fight fiercely to protect what they think is their sacred birthright to rule the planet.

After the interrogation the human was removed and the four interrogators returned to the Hall of Science with Mendes the Divine and Invincible to map strategy for the defense of the city.

MENDES WARNS OF ATTACK BY APES

Mendes, Divine and Invincible Leader of the Underground, warned today of imminent attack by Apes. The plans for the attack were discovered telepathically. Mental deterrents are being readied for the defense of the city.

The Apes have been thriving on the surface for some time and while not much is known about their way of life, Mendes is convinced that they are warlike brutes.

The Apes first came to be known to underground scientists several years ago when a rock fault permitted several of the species to fall through into our land. Unfortunately the bodies had to be immediately destroyed in order to protect our citizens from potential alien diseases.

Mendes will consult "the Bomb" for guidance and then will deliver a report to the people. He has said, "these are troubled times and we must look to our leaders and divinities for spiritual help and guidance".

MENTAL DETERRENTS READY

General of the Defense, Ygli VII, has promised Mendes the Divine and Invincible that individual training in the use of mental deterrents will be completed in time for the expected Ape assault. The training will enable each citizen to hurl his own mental deterrent. The weapons, consisting of several forms of brain torture and mind disuasion, are expected to stop the Apes at the boundaries of the Forbidden Zone.

LIGHT LEAK SEALED

Special to the Mutant News

A deadly light leak in the extreme southwest fissure was sealed last night by the maintenance patrol after two deaths and several injuries caused a public outcry.

It has become increasingly apparent that for action to be taken by the patrol, some serious disturbance must first occur.

The light leak was discovered several days ago. Now, after a major calamity, it has finally been repaired.

TALKING HUMAN ESCAPES

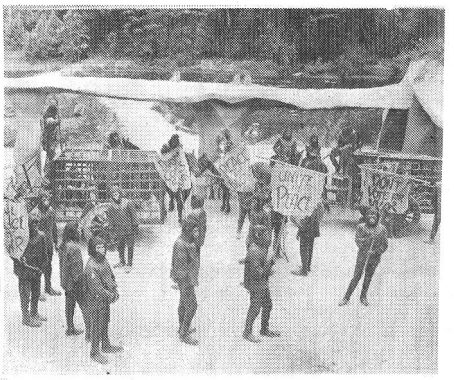
The mysterious human that has become known throughout the Ape scientific community as "Zira's talking Human" has escaped.

The beast, a particularly intelligent one, was captured three weeks ago and marked for target practice by the Ape army. It was removed from its cage along with a female, perhaps its mate, when the chimpanzee doctor noted its odd cranial formation and obvious superior intelligence.

As for the animal actually speaking there is still much conjecture. Reliable sources informed the science editor of THE APE NEWS that Dr. Zira was seen engaged in some crude form of intelligent conversation with the human. She denies this.

Dr. Zaius, eminent Ape scientist and expert on the human form of life, has consistently warned Dr. Zira about her daring experiments with humans but the lady doctor continues to monkey around.

HIPPIE CHIMPANZEES ATTEMPT TO BLOCK ARMY



Large groups of young chimpanzee anti-war demonstrators have been hindering government efforts to launch the long awaited attack on the Forbidden Zone.

On Thursday approximately two dozen pickets had to be forcefully removed from the highway by the university where they staged a sit-in to prevent a column of troops from moving out of the city.

Violence was averted when an advisor pointed out that to shoot the demonstrators would create martyrs of them. It was decided, instead, to remove them peacefully.

The pickets were taken to the station house where they were booked and paw-printed. Several were sent home pending further investigation, while others were kept for questioning.

As has been common in the past, the cause of the chimpanzee dissenters has been taken up by the Apes Civil Liberties Union, ACLU.

TODAY'S HEALTH

WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF MAN BITE

There have been an increasing number of man bite cases recently and an increasing number of queries regarding what to do for man bite if there is no doctor around. The first rule, of course, is don't panic. Humans bite each other all the time, usually with little or no injurious effect.

The human bite while painful, is not poisonous. It's discomfort comes from the squeezing of the skin. In severe cases there may be tearing and blood. Still, it is wise to remain inactive for a period after being man bitten. Lie quietly. Apply cold compresses. If there is any blood, treat as you would any other open wound. Yelling and sulking are also effective. This is what the male Human always seems to do to counteract the effects of a female Human bite.

APE GENERAL VOWS TO ATTACK HUMANS

ZAIUS MAKES PLEA FOR MORE HUMAN EXPERIMENTATION

Orangutan Scientist Dr. Zaius, in an afternoon press conference, made a plea for more human bodies for the purposes of experimentation. Dr. Zaius believes that the close similarity in physcial structure between the Apes and this lower form of life makes humans an invaluable aid in the development and improvement of medical techniques.

Zaius bitterly spoke out against those who deplore the use of humans for experimentation purposes. He maintained that the pain suffered by animals is something which must be overlooked in the quest of Ape science.

The opposition forces claim that humans resemble the Apes enough in body structure to merit a special classification between Apes and animals. The group has hinted that humans may be on the same level, or perhaps even above the level of Apes in the animal scale, but that is, of course, a heresy. No one in authority has ventured to make such a statement publicly. Dr. Zira the outspoken Chimpanzee Doctor, however is believed to be among the leaders of this cult of human lovers. Dr. Zaius has feuded constantly with her about the matter and has threatened to bring charges should she become too vocal.

Zira's husband Cornelius, a Zaius follower, has also tried to convince Zira of the errors in her theory but she is steadfast. Perhaps the story about the "talking human" she discovered is true and perhaps it is not. One thing is certain, Dr. Zira and Dr. Zaius are heading for a showdown that may shake the entire Ape intellectual community.

APE ARMY COMPLETES SPECIAL MANEUVERS

Massive military maneuvers along the borders of the Forbidden Zone have come to an end. The maneuvers, held in conjunction with intensified training in base camps around the country, were in preparation for the expected attack on the Forbidden Zone.

The impending attack has been long pressed for by Ape Commander in Chief General Ursus, who says it should bring more food and natural resources to our troubled land.

To meet the demands of the stepped up training program, thousands of humans were captured for target practice. The humans serve particularly well in this regard since their screams closely resemble our own and hence add great realism to the practice.

It is not known exactly what will be found when our forces enter the Zone but most military and scientific experts agree that the enemy will be some form of human.

Several new weapons used in the maneuvers are expected to be unveiled before the general public shortly. The as yet Top Secret items have been developed for fighting the unseen, unknown powers of regions such as the Forbidden Zone.

URSUS' "INVADE" SPEECH TOUCHES ON OTHER SIMIAN TOPICS

In General Ursus' much talked about "Invade" speech, the miliary leader also touched on several other important topics.

The General assured Dr. Zaius, the eminent orangutan scientist, that every effort would be made to procure still more humans for the purpose of scientific experimentation. Zaius had publicly challenged Ursus on the army's use of humans for target practice.

When questioned about the growing anti-war sentiment among the university champanzees, Ursus refused to comment. He is convinced that the Apes, in general, support his plan for planet domination.

HIGH COMMAND STAMPS APPROVAL

Apetown–General Ursus, Commander in Chief of the APE WAR MACHINE, vowed today, in a speech to his high command, to invade the "Forbidden Zone".

Ursus cited the shortage of food and the need to establish Ape dominance all over the planet as two of the principle reasons for attacking whatever or whoever may be living in the zone. "We now have definite evidence that that vast barren area is inhabited", the General said, "By whom or what we do not know. But if they live, then they must eat. We must replenish the land that was ravaged by the humans with new productive feeding grounds. And these we can obtain in the once Forbidden Zone".

Amid the cheering assemblage of Apes, Chimpanzees and Orangutans, General Ursus was unrelenting in his plea for decisive military action. "It is now", he said, "our holy duty to enter the Zone, to put the mark of our feet and wheels and guns upon it"!

As the cheers mounted, Ursus raised his arms skyward and shouted "We must expand the boundaries of our ineluctable power. Kill our enemies. And invade, invade, invade"!
